Descrizione attività azienda:

The Eridania-Sadam Group, Comune di Jesi and the Università Politecnica delle Marche founded the first certified incubator in Center Italy, JCube, giving young talents an opportunity to confirm their ideas and give birth to successful companies.

Our mission is to back the development of new "science based" startups, by giving services and business tutoring during the first lifeyears, offering equipped workspaces and high qualified competences. With the aim of fostering the startup economy, JCube work strongly on building an innovation network in the adriatic area of Center Italy.

Only by starting highly innovative business the whole economic system will benefit: talents and competences are held back, new business models are activated, supply chain process will trigger innovation in the whole local production system.

Our aim is to boost startups and companies with high development rate in strategic sectors, so we can create wealth and development for the whole territory.

By now, more than 40 people in 15 innovative startups are working in JCube, with a supporting team for entering the process and a vast network of competent consultant and Venture Capitals.
